Subj: MEETING OF THE JMIE STEERING GROUP

1. The Joint Maritime Information Element (JMIE) Steering Group is a senior-level policy coordination and oversight body of which all organizations participating in the JMIE consortium are members. In its last meeting, the Steering Group reviewed a plan for development of an automated information handling system to support the operational missions of consortium members. The program is advancing toward deployment of a test bed system this summer.

2. To provide members an overview of current program status, plans for implementing a full operational capability (FOC), and a demonstration of prototype system capabilities, a Steering Group meeting will be held on 28 March 1988 at 1100 in [redacted]

[redacted] Current policy, procedural, and resource issues will also be addressed.

3. Please confirm your prospective attendance to Phyllis Hughes, 376-5560 by 18 March. A working luncheon will be served at the meeting.
